Scope of Advice

It is important that you understand exactly what advice you have requested and what advice you are receiving.

To provide comprehensive advice in respect of your all your objectives, financial situation and needs (‘your personal circumstances’) requires review and consideration of all issues related to your personal circumstances and we have spoken of the benefits of such a review.

You have instructed me to conduct a comprehensive analysis of all of your personal circumstances and provide appropriate advice based on that analysis.

OR

At this time you have requested that I do not conduct a comprehensive review and you have instructed me that you require advice specifically related to:

.....

I need to collect information about your personal circumstances to provide us with sufficient information to enable us to provide you with the advice that you seek. If you do not provide me with this information, I may not be able to provide you with a recommendation or advice that meets your specific needs and objectives.

If you provide me with information in respect of your personal circumstances that I know be to incomplete or inaccurate and you do not complete or correct that information, I must warn you that;

- the advice is, or may be, based on incomplete or inaccurate information relating to your personal circumstances; and
- because of that, you should, before acting on the advice, consider the appropriateness of the advice, having regard to your personal circumstances.
